

CHRISTINE JOHNSON

The session will consist of a brief overview of the NZDF investigation process, focusing on what to expect in an investigation, including:

- How the gap between the civilian world of the investigator and the military world is bridged by the NZDF appointed Liason Officer and the function of this officer
- Security matters
- Special rules regarding the order of interviewing of complainant, respondent and witnesses where a military person is involved
- How the Armed Forces Disciplinary Act can affect the investigation

It is intended that this be a very interactive session where participant's interest in this type of work is stimulated and their questions answered
